Continued growth elevates Bolton & Company's standing among nation's largest brokers

Pasadena, California – Bolton & Company, one of the nation's largest privately-owned insurance brokers, has once again raised its standing on the Business Insurance list of the 100 Largest Brokers of U.S. Business.

Compiled annually by a leading commercial publication in the insurance industry, Bolton & Company moved up to number 78 on the list that ranks firms according to annual revenue. This places Bolton among the top one percent of all brokers in the nation.

Following a year of growth and profitability, Bolton neared $42 million in revenue for 2015—an increase of more than 15 percent from the year prior. This steady growth bumped the firm up from its previous placement at number 81 on the list.

For Bolton President and CEO Steve Brockmeyer, this latest standing reflects a committed, strategic focus on growth.

“This exciting news is a testament to the outstanding dedication and skill of everyone in our organization,” said Brockmeyer. “As we look toward increasing our workforce and expanding our operations, we remain focused on finding and retaining the best possible talent in order to drive this growth consistently and ensure the highest quality service for our clients.”

The announcement comes just months after Bolton & Company announced its expansion into the South Bay following the acquisition of the employee benefits business of inAssist Health Management Solutions.
